Our Estillo range of beautiful textured Blue Grey slates is quarried in the Northern slate producing region of Spain, which is world renowned for quality and longevity. The colour and texture of these slates ensure that they are highly regarded throughout the industry. For a slate to be included within the exclusive Estillo range the slate must show exceptional properties for impermeability, durability, and versatility in addition to being free from visible pyrites and must meet or exceed the highest standards of BSEN12326 requirements.

The Estillo 15 quarry at Valdemiguel has been continually operating for over 50 years and is proud to continue producing its "Life Lasting" slate for generations to come.

Estillo 15 provides the discerning architect, developer or homeowner with a slate that will add value and beauty to any project.
