Vermont Structural Semi Weathering Grey Green slate is quarried and produced at the family owned quarry as our top of the range Unfading Green and Unfading Mottled slates. This slate offers the discerning specifier the option of obtaining best quality at great value. This slate has been used extensively within the United states for over a century and creates a beautiful looking roof that weathers over time with some slates changing to brown shades giving the whole roof the appearance of an older traditional slate roof. The slate is also "made on the grain" which means that the strength and performance of the slate is maximised. Some slates may contain small inclusions of pyrites but this is not general throughout a selection of slates.
